

Office of the Chancellor

July 23, 2018

Dear NCCU Community:

I am pleased to report that North Carolina Central University received official notification from the American Bar Association (ABA) Section of Legal Education and Admission to the Bar that the NCCU School of Law is in compliance with Standard 501 (b) and Interpretation 501-1 and remains an approved law school. University officials appeared before the Committee during its June 28-29, 2018, meeting and presented documentation and evidence of our commitment to ensuring the successful admission, matriculation, graduation and bar passage of our law school students.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the ABA for rendering a favorable decision and to members of the NCCU School of Law community for their hard work and diligence over the past several months. As our School of Law embarks on its 80th year of providing high quality legal education to citizens of North Carolina and beyond in 2019, we are reminded of the legacy of leaders that we have produced and will continue to educate in the years to come.

Please see the attached Public Notice from the American Bar Association concerning North Carolina Central University School of Law.

In Truth and Service,

Johnson O. Akinleye, Ph.D.
Chancellor

Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar

ACCREDITATION COMMITTEE DECISION

NOTICE OF LAW SCHOOL'S DEMONSTRATING COMPLIANCE WITH STANDARD 501(b)

North Carolina Central University School of Law

June 2018

At its June 28-29, 2018 meeting, the Accreditation Committee of the Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar (the "Committee") considered the status of the North Carolina Central University School of Law (the "Law School") regarding its non-compliance with Standard 501(b) and Interpretation 501-1.

Following consideration of the record in the matter and the Law School's appearance at its June 2018 meeting, the Committee concluded that the concrete steps taken by the Law School with respect to its admissions policy and practices demonstrated the Law School's compliance with Standard 501(b) and Interpretation 501-1. North Carolina Central University School of Law remains an approved law school.