

Greetings NCCU School of Law Community:

I am immensely proud and humbled by the tremendous opportunity I have been granted to lead North Carolina Central University School of Law. It has been an exciting four months at the helm of the law school. I write today with a heartfelt appeal for your support in our 2023 Year-End Giving Campaign.

The NCCU School of Law continues to provide a quality, practice-oriented, and affordable legal education to students from historically underrepresented communities. Our Law School is one of only six remaining HBCU law schools in the nation and contributes mightily to the diversity of the legal profession.

Many of you have been incredibly generous with your time and financial resources. The impact of your past contributions has been immense, enabling us to offer scholarships to deserving students, enhance our faculty resources, and develop innovative programs that prepare our graduates to tackle the complex legal challenges of the modern world. Your continued support is vital to sustaining and expanding these initiatives, ensuring that we can provide an outstanding legal education to our students.

Our 2023 Year-End fundraising goal is more ambitious than ever. We aim to strengthen our clinical legal education programs, establish new scholarships, and create opportunities for experiential learning through internships and moot court competitions. Your generous donation will play a crucial role in achieving these objectives and making a lasting impact on the lives of our students.

I understand there are many deserving causes vying for your support, but I urge you to remember your law school alma mater. A financial contribution will have a profound influence on the life of NCCU School of Law. Your tax-deductible donation will enable us to continue providing an exceptional education and fostering an environment where every student can thrive.

To make your contribution, please visit our online donation portal at <http://bit.ly/nccu-fall> or contact Karuna Rekhraj at 919-530-5244 or krekhraj001@nccu.edu.

Every contribution, regardless of size, makes a significant difference and brings us one step closer to our goals.

Thank you for your steadfast support and belief in the transformative power of the legal education provided by NCCU School of Law.

With warmest regards,
